FAQ

What are the main steps to become certified?

- There are 3 main steps:

- a. Application,
- b. Assessment (Documents & Field Audit),
- c. Certification (certificate published)

How long does it take to get the certification?

- In common, it took only 1 month to assess the application document, conduct document audit and field audit. Then, the client will be given 2.5 months (max) to make corrections based on findings from the audit.
- In brief, 3.5 months of intense and productive audit & correction was expected to complete the certification.
- However, it depends on the client's capability to perform faster corrections. This highly affects the certification process time.

What's the difference between ISO 9001:2008 and ISO 9001:2015?

- ISO 9001:2015 is the latest and the replacement standard for ISO 9001:2008 which issued in September of 2015. With a three year implementation resulting ISO 9001:2008 no longer valid due September 2018. Please make sure you are certified with the latest standard.

Is a ISO 9001 certified company still required to have ISO 22000 certification?

- ISO 9001 certification focuses on the product quality, while ISO 22000 focuses on food safety, as an advanced level of HACCP.
- Having both ISO 9001 and ISO 22000, a company will gain more credibility on both food safety and quality management system. ISO 22000 was designed to be easily integrated with ISO 9001 systems.

What laboratory test that is commonly tested?

- This certification truly depends on your determined quality standard, it means that the laboratory testing may vary between companies.
